How to Be More Cherished One Day

This is not fun to hear but here it is — in relationship, we women are often the limiting factor in how much we can be cherished. Our resistance to being truly loved can take many guises — over-busyness, anger, blaming and on and on. In relationship each of us has expectations, history, beliefs, hidden conversations, lack of self-love, fear of forgiveness, not acknowledging our power and information filed upside down and backward. Since our part is all we have to work with this one-day course will help you uncover what may be keeping you from having the abundance of love and tenderness — the cherishing — that can be yours.

You know you love him and, even most days, that he loves you. But being cherished... that is the relationship utopia where we often fall short. What happened to that glow when you were first in love? How can you get it back and, more importantly, what shifts must you make to keep it in your relationship — always.

This profound and important investigation stands on the shoulders of our How to Be Cherished Weekend. It will be a deeper cut and further extension of the material presented in our book of the same name. We want women to feel the mastery and empowerment of having men in their lives whose hearts and minds are committed to having the best relationship possible. We may have to lean back and accept all that they want us to have and enjoy. If we can only get ourselves out of the way, we could receive their cherishing. We'll talk about how to do just that.

This one-day will cover complex terrain and open participants to a new level of satisfaction, love and joy in their relationships. Give your mate a gift. Open your heart and join us for a day that will shift your relationship — for as long as you want.

This conversation will be continued. The fee is $195 for the course and you must be a graduate of the Having What You Want With a Man Weekend to attend. Please call the office or email your intention to join us when the course is next offered. When enough women want to take the course we will schedule it and you emailers will have the first opportunity to enroll, thereby ensuring the course will be offered. All payments are due in the office one month before the course. There are questions to answer and homework to do in preparation for this course. Please send payment to the address listed on the left. Hours will likely be 9:30am to 5:30pm.

"This course will help you remember how cherished you can be."
