

31 Washington Square West

Suite 6E

New York, NY 10011

212-741-8787

info@lifeworksgroup.com

www.lifeworksgroup.com

The Natural Power of Being a Woman One Day

Desiring to be loved is a healthy, natural longing.

Being empowered, supported, cuddled, soothed, known and understood are experiences we want from someone who loves us and is there for on a regular basis. We want unconditional love and we certainly deserve it.

It is said that to receive love from someone else we need to love ourselves. We need to create an environment in which love, coming from someone else, can find its way to us, to our hearts and be experienced through our whole being. We need to create this pathway by loving ourselves.

Creating this environment where love can find us is the subject of our day. Through conversation, deep reflection and visualizations we will develop a route through which we can attract the unconditional love we deserve and desire.

Bring with you

- notebook
- photo of you as a little girl
- description of what unconditional love would be like for you (please take time and consider this deeply)

Please call the office or email your intention to join us at info@lifeworksgroup.com

The fee is $195 for the course and payment is due when you reserve your place. All fees must be received 1 month before the course begins. There are questions to answer and homework to do to prepare for this course. Please send payment to the address below. Plan on a full day. You will receive location and hours with your preparation materials.